Trick Or Treat

Posted originally on the fanfiction.lol at https://fanfiction.lol/works/1076.

Rating:	General Audiences
Archive Warning:	No Archive Warnings Apply
Categories:	Slash (M/M), Y/N (reader insert)
Fandom:	Obey Me! - All Media Types
Relationship:	Leviathan (Shall We Date?: Obey Me!)/Reader
Characters:	Leviathan (Shall We Date?: Obey Me!), Male Reader
Additional Tags:	Kisses, Hand Feeding, Fluff, Candy, Halloween, Flustered Leviathan (Shall We Date?: Obey Me!), Established Relationships, Idiots in Love, Dorks in Love, Forcing Leviathan (Shall We Date?: Obey Me!) Out of His Comfort Zone
Language:	English
Series:	Part 1 of Obey Me x Reader
Stats:	Published: 2026-11-02 Words: 1,622 Chapters: 1/1

Trick Or Treat

by Rooks_Rook

Summary

You consider what your doing with Levi is a treat, he thinks its a nasty trick

You were speed walking your way over to Levi's room with a massive grin on your face, a bottle of pop in one hand, and a bag full of goodies in the other. You had been planing this for a while, before October had even began.

With this being your second year in the Devildom you had a much better feel for things and how it will most likely go. And by that you mean that tomorrow is probably going to be chaotic as hell with all the brothers trying to make your Halloween perfect while also dealing with whatever Lord Diavolo had planed for it. So you wanted to have a nice night with Levi before that all started.

You don't bother knocking already having told Levi you were coming and when you open the door you are met with exactly what you expected, Levi sitting at his desk so entranced by his game he didn't even notice you enter. The focused look on his face made you smile, he always looked so cute when he's focused.

Dropping the bag down next to Levi's bathtub-bed you slowly and quietly make your way over to him making sure not to draw his attention from his game to you. As you get closer you see hes playing the new game you got him the other day, he had been ranting about how much he wanted it and you decided to 'barrow' Goldie from Mammon to get the game for him. Luckily Lucifer took away Goldie right after that so Mammon was none the wiser to the small theft.

Now standing next to him, he still hadn't noticed you despite touching the arm of the chair.

"Boo!" you say right in his ear making him almost fall to the floor as he lets out a screech.

His eyes snap over to you and you can't help but break into a fit of laughter at the look of pure betrayal he gives you. For the past week you have been doing your best to spook all of the brothers in the name of Halloween spirit and you have gotten everyone but Lucifer and Levi. Lucifer cause it's Lucifer and Levi cause you promised you wouldn't scare him but in this moment you just couldn't resist.

"MC?! You promised not to scare me! You're lucky I'm in a safe zone or I could have lost so much progress!" Levi whines pouting as he glares at you only making you laugh more. No matter what he did he found a way to be cute.

"I'm sorry! I just couldn't resist" you say as apologetically as you could manage in-between your laughs.

"Did you come just to scare me?"

"Course not! Save your game and come over" you gesture towards the cushions on his floor in-font of the TV on the other side of the room. Picking up the things on your way over so when you sat down you could place everything down in the way you wanted. It only took a few moments for Levi to come over and join you.

You made sure not to tell him why you were coming over so you could surprise him with all these treats.

"Whats with the candy? Don't you want to wait until tomorrow or something" he asks already reaching for one of the chocolate bars you brought but you swiftly grabbed his hand to stop him.

"Tomorrow is going to be crazy and we most likely wont get a chance to be alone together for long so I wanted to spend some time with you enjoying candy before all of that starts up" you run your thumb over his palm as you speak making blush rush to his face and a grin to jump onto yours.

"Don't you want to do that with Mammon or Beel and Belphie instead of a worthless otaku? They would-" he's spiraling with this already and you haven't even been here for twenty minuets. You sigh deeply, you've been dating him for three months now and have been trying your best to get him to stop talking like that and… well it hasn't been going as well as you would have liked it to.

"Levi" you call out softly making him stop and look at you instead of the ground "you're my boyfriend and I'm yours remember? I'll always chose to spend time with you when it's an option alright?" his face is beat red by the time you finish his mouth opening and closing like a fish.

"Now that your done, how about I tell you what I have planed?" you say giving his hand one last soft squeeze and pulling away.

"Ok…" he mumbles not trusting himself to say anything more.

"Good! Okay so basically you're going to close your eyes and let me feed you candy and your going to have to guess what candy it is. If you get it right then I'll give you a kiss kay?"

"Wha- you- your just using this as an excuse to kiss me!" if his face could get more red it would but he's already reached his limit.

"Yep" you say chipperly making him grumble in embarrassment.

"What happens if I get them wrong?"

"You have to kiss me!"

"Thats the same as if I get them right!"

"No it's not"

"Yes it is"

"No, if you get it right I'll be kissing you, if you get it wrong then you will kiss me instead" Levi still struggled working the confidence up to initiate kisses between the two of you so you had to do most of the work in that field but you weren't mad about it or anything. Quite the opposite really. The look at surprise, embarrassment, and abortion on his face after you kiss him will always be worth it.

"Mc…" he draws out giving you that pathetic look he always did when he thought you were being unfair about something "you know I can't- I mean I want to but your to handsome and perfect for me to- to be able to do th-that" he mumbled so quietly and quickly that you almost didn't understand what he said.

"Well then don't get any wrong" you knew he could never say no when you looked at him with a stupid grin and adoring eyes.

It was a dirty trick that quickly turned into a treat when you placed a kiss to his cheek to show him what was in store if he played along.

And so you started playing. To your surprise he was extremely good at it even though you had purposely gotten candys that tasted similar to make it harder for him. While you did enjoy how he tensed up when he got one right only to melt into your lips you wanted him to get at least one wrong so he could be pushed out of his comfort zone. That's the only way he'll learn how to do it on his own.

Then a brilliant idea struck you that was destined to work perfectly.

"This ones going to be really hard" you say trying to keep the excitement out of your voice.

Levi nods and opens his mouth just enough for you to feed the candy to him without issue. Instead of simply putting the candy in his mouth like all other times you slip it into yours first. It's a extremely sweet green apple flavored gumball that makes your tongue tingle. Slowly you scooch closer to Levi till your so close he could feel your breath against his face.

"What are-" you cut him pressing a kiss to his open lips and carefully moving the candy from your mouth to his. He makes a noise that sounds like a mouse who just got found stealing food. The kiss lasted a few more long moments as you made sure he fully savored the candy and your lips.

"So?" You have to hold back a laugh at the dazed look on his face.

"Huh?"

"What flavor was the candy?"

"Uh…" He blinks at you owlishly as he racks his brain for the right answer "apple?"

"what flavor of apple?" you let a single laugh slip though now not being able to stop it.

"Red?"

"Nope!" your smile is so big it almost hurts "Oh well time for you to pay up pretty boy" you hum tilting your head at him expectantly.

He freezes looking at you as if you told him Lucifer and Belphie were getting along.

"Come on its not that hard!" your words come out more teasingly then intended as you grab his hand and hold it gently in yours "here I'll close my eyes and wait just like you did for me"

For a little over ten minutes you sit there listening to Levi psych himself up to kiss you only to retreat last second. Finally though you hear him moving and feel his hearth against your lips and he only hesitated for a second more before connecting your lips.

The kiss is slow, gentle, and cautious but no less filled with love and care then the kisses you lead. You rap your arms around his neck and play with the ends of his hair trying to savor the kiss as long as possible. Inevitably though you have to pull away and when you open your eyes to see Levi with the cutest embarrassed look on his face as he looks off to the side avoiding looking into your eyes.

"That… Was amazing" you hum rubbing your thumb against the back of his neck.

"really?"

"Mhm… it was the best kiss I've ever had. It was a better treat then the candy"

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!