Sword loved the idea of a sleepover with everyone. She could just imagine the games and snacks and the eventual cuddling in one bed as they all dream about whatever. What she was not so happy about…

Dogpile. Actual dogpile. Sword was trapped in what felt like everyphernal's body surrounding her. They all decided to crawl over Sword for some swordsdamned reason.

"I think we're, like, killing her or something…" That's Skateboard. Next to her was Coil, muttering something about "I don't give a gaf". Well, maybe she should, because her lungs are being laid on by Rocket! Boombox and Slingshot chose her legs for some reason, but that basically means she's trapped! It was an elaborate plan to trap Sword and keep her for their evil plans!

She tried to speak, to ask them to not crush her to death, but all that came out was a weird mix of whine and voice crack. Skateboard then laughed in her face.

She's going to die here.
